Waterview to close . . .

If you have been taking Waterview Drive to reach the campus from Campbell Road you will have a surprise Nov. 23. Due to the "slight re-routing" of Waterview near the temporary Administration Building access to the campus will be via N. Armstrong and Floyd Road until sometime in January.

Access to the Conference Center and the Southwestern Legal Foundation will be via Drive "A" from N. Armstrong or from Drive "G" from the main entrance at Floyd Road.

VSO to meet . . .

The Veterans Service Organization will meet in Green 2.404, Nov. 24; 12-12:45 p.m. for day students, 5:50-6:20 p.m. for evening students.

All active members of the organization and any veteran students/dependents who are interested in becoming members are encouraged to attend.

For further information call (690) 2098, or come by the Veterans Service Office in Green 2.520.

Writing Workshop . . .

Do you need pointers on writing a paper? Do you have specific questions about your paper that is due this semester?

Let us help you solve your problems by attending the ETC/Study Skills Center's Writing Workshop on Tuesday, Nov. 24, 10-11:30 a.m. in McDermott 3.224. For those desiring it, there will be a follow-up workshop on Tuesday, Dec. 1, 10-11:30 a.m. in McDermott 3.224.

For further information call 690-2746 or come by McDermott 3.202.

Transcript requests . . .

Requests for official UTD transcripts must be submitted to the bursar's office beginning immediately, the Office of Admissions and Registrar has announced.

Transcripts for academic advising, the Teacher Education office, and the UTD Placement Office will still be ordered from the Registrar's office.

Next deadlines for MERCURY

UTD MERCURY will be published next as of Monday, Dec. 7. Advertising sales for that issue will close Wednesday, Nov. 25 (early because of Thanksgiving holidays). News deadline will be at noon Monday, Nov. 30 to allow paste-up time and printer pickup on Thursday, Dec. 3.

If news releases can be brought in or mailed to reach UTD MERCURY prior to Nov. 30, the extra time will be appreciated.

Nation's economy Thurow's topic --

Economic expert to speak here Nov. 23

Economics expert Dr. Lester Carl Thurow, author of the book, The Zero-Sum Society, will discuss the U.S. economy's difficulties and some possible solutions to them during a presentation at The University of Texas at Dallas, Monday, Nov. 23 from 1-2 p.m. in the Conference Center. The event will be open to the public at no charge.

Thurow's discussion will be the seventh of UTD's Cecil and Ida Green Distinguished Lectures. Established in the spring of 1980, the lectures bring to campus authorities from various fields to speak on topics appropriate to each of the university's six schools. The series' name honors Cecil H. Green, a Dallas industrialist and civic leader who helped found the university, and his wife, Ida M. Green, a supporter of women's education.

A professor of economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a professor of management in M.I.T.'s Sloan School of Management, Thurow has gained wide public notice for his views on domestic economic management.

Before his affiliation with M.I.T., Thurow was assistant professor of economics at Harvard University and a research associate at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government. He retains affiliations with the Kennedy School, and also with Harvard's Institute of Politics.

He has been a presidential appointee to the National Commission for Manpower Policy; a member of the NAACP Economic Advisory Board; a staff economist for the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and a consultant for the council. He also has acted as consultant for the U.S. Labor Department, Budget Bureau, HEW, Data Resources, and REIT Fund, and for the governments of Puerto Rico and Pakistan.

He is a contributing editor for Newsweek and an economics columnist for The New York Times, The Los Angeles Times, and The Boston Globe.

Born in 1938 in Livingston, Montana, Thurow received the B.A. degree with high honors in political economy from Williams College in 1960. At Williams he was named a Tyng Scholar and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year.

He received the M.A. degree with first-class honors in philosophy, politics and economy from Oxford University's Balliol College, where he was a Rhodes Scholar, in 1962.

He received the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in economics from Harvard University in 1964. While at Harvard, he held a Graduate National Fellowship and a Wells Prize.

For further information on Thurow's UTD lecture, call 690-2295.

Do-it-yourself-Handel

In keeping with tradition, the fifth annual "Messiah Sing" will be presented Saturday, Dec. 12 at 8:15 p.m. in University Theatre. The program is free and open to the public.

"It's a BYOS affair, says director Stewart J. Clark. "Bring Your Own Scores."

On stage, an organist and harpsichordist will play the instrumental score of Handel's "Messiah," with area vocalists singing the solos. But at each choral section, Clark will turn to the audience and direct them through the passages.

UTD's "Messiah Sing" also will include Scripture readings by faculty members with Clark

Choeur d'Ami to present choral music

A new choral group, "Choeur d'Ami," which means "Chorus of Friends," will present a concert covering four centuries of English Christmas choral music Friday, Dec. 11, at 8:15 p.m. in University Theatre.

The director, Stewart J. Clark, assistant professor of music, described the 27-member group as a mixture of "music and voice teachers and dedicated amateurs both from UTD and the community."

"We are an ensemble with high professional standards performing quality vocal chamber literature," he said.

Members of "Choeur d'Ami" also will participate in the fifth annual "Messiah Sing" Saturday, Dec. 12, at 8:15 p.m. in University Theatre. People are encouraged to bring their own musical scores of the "Messiah," Clark added.

Both events are free and open to the public. For more information on either Christmas musical program, call 690-2989.

leading the audience in several familiar Christmas carols.

Gavin Hambly, dean of the School of Arts and Humanities, and Victor Worsfold, associate dean of the arts, originated this program five years ago.

"The idea behind creating the 'Messiah Sing' was to start a holiday tradition at UTD . . . a tradition that already has been going on for centuries in England," Clark says.

"Judging by its success (full houses every year), I'd say we definitely have started a tradition."

INTEROFFICE MEMORANDUM

November 20, 1981

TO: Carol Taylor, Manager, Food Services
FROM: UTD Student Congress
SUBJECT: Operation of Student Union Deli

On behalf of the student body, the UTD Student Congress requests that the Deli located in the Student Union remain open during its normal hours of operation, including Fridays, through December 18, 1981, rather than closing on December 8, 1981 as you have announced. This request is an effort to meet the needs of both day and evening students.

If this request is not honored, the Student Congress has voted unanimously to provide free coffee to students beginning Monday, November 30, 1981 in the Student Government offices (SU2.206).

Rodriguez wins
ASCAP award

For the second year in a row, Dr. Robert Xavier Rodriguez, associate professor of music, has been awarded a grant from the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Last year, ASCAP gave Rodriguez a special award for outstanding achievement in the field of concert music.

This 1981-82 award to Rodriguez "reflects our continuing commitment to assist and encourage writers of serious music." ASCAP said.

"They are granted by an independent panel and are based upon the unique prestige value of each writer's catalog."

Rodriguez said he's especially pleased to receive this award based on his composition work during the past year. He noted the prestige of the award was strongly connected with the list of well-known panelists who selected ASCAP grant recipients. They included: Frank Battisti, chairman of the music education department, New England Conservatory of Music; Ainslee Cox, music director and conductor of the Guggenheim Concert Band; Richard Dufallo, music director and conductor of twentieth century music at Juillard School; Dr. Edwin E. Heilakka, librarian at the Curtis Institute of Music; Dr. Paul Wohlgemuth, chairman of the department of fine arts at Oral Roberts University.

In 1980, Rodriguez earned a $10,000 national fellowship for a new classical work he had written, as well as being nominated for a Pulitzer Prize in Music.

A scholarship fund for UTD students has been set up in memory of Dr. David Craigie. In lieu of flowers, or other memorials, Craigie's family has requested that contributions be made to the David Craigie Memorial Scholarship Fund, c/o Dr. John Sommer, School of Social Sciences, The University of Texas at Dallas, P.O. Box 688, Richardson TX 75080.

The following message was distributed to the faculty of The University of Texas at Dallas on Nov. 6.

Yesterday we learned of the death of a cherished colleague, and we are all diminished. Dr. David Craigie's passing leaves a void in all of us who knew him as a friend and as an exceptional instructor whose talents were formally recognized in the Amoco Award he received in 1979.

The torment of his last few months was borne with quiet dignity. He had a deep reluctance to share the outrageous burden of knowledge of the cancer inside him.

We lament his loss to us in a personal sense and as a member of a community of teacher/scholars who worked steadfastly to welcome students into the life of this university.

Take a moment, if you will, to reflect on how we value one another and rejoice, for when a colleague such as David Craigie dies, our reflections can only be filled with grief.

students. He received his B.A. from Wayne State University in 1966, and his Ph.D. from the University of Arizona in 1977 in Sociology.

At the University of Arizona he was awarded the Foundation award for meritorious performance as a teaching associate. He received the Amoco Award for teaching excellence in 1979 at The University of Texas at Dallas.

Craigie's wife, Bethany, and their three children, Tavis, 14, Melissa, 11, and Tristan, 6, are residents of Richardson.

Race for birds Nov. 24

It's Turkey Trot time again at The University of Texas at Dallas.

That's not a dance, but the sixth annual running of a race on the university's campus, 2601 N. Floyd Rd.

This year's race, open to the public, at no charge, and with no age limit, is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 24 beginning at 12:15 p.m. Participants will run a two-mile course on the campus, beginning and ending at the promenade between the Green Center and Jonsson Building.

Female and male first-place finishers in each of three categories—public, UTD students and UTD faculty and staff—will win a dinner turkey donated by Safeway Store #290 in Richardson.

Those who want to participate may register in advance by calling 690-2094 or 690-2090. Or they may register on race day at the starting point.
