GRCSW PRESIDENT TO ADDRESS YALE SEMINAR

PROF. HELSLEY ON RESEARCH
TREK TO NORTH AFRICA

"The Graduate School: A Regional Challenge," will be the title of an address to be given by GRCSW president Dr. Lloyd Berkner (above) before the luncheon meeting of the Yale Regional Seminar, Saturday, March 21.

"The Role of Government in Higher Education," will be examined in this Eighth Annual Seminar, held for the first time in the Southwest, March 20-21.

Dr. Berkner will also serve as a member of the seminar panel discussions, Friday sessions of which will be held in SMU's Student Departing Dallas Monday, March 16, SCAS geoscientist Prof. Charles E. Helsley will travel to Morocco, Algeria, and possibly to Libya, on a NASA-sponsored study in paleomagnetism.

According to Prof. Helsley this trip will be of three to four weeks' duration and will take him to The Hague, Netherlands, and to Pau, France, for discussions with European oil company geologists.

Working with Moroccan geologists, guides, and other native personnel, Prof. Helsley will operate from a base at Ourgata in Algeria. A village near the Wadi Oued Dra, and south of Colomb Bechar, Center; Saturday morning sessions will be held in Fincher Auditorium on the campus. The luncheon at which Dr. Berkner will speak will be held in the Great Hall of the Student Center.

The GRCSW president's participation in the seminar here serves to complement the series of lectures on graduate education given at Yale in February.

Concluding seminar events, a Saturday banquet will be addressed by Dr. Kingman Brewster, Jr., who will be formally inaugurated as Yale's 17th president in April. He was elected to the presidency in October, 1963. The banquet will be held at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

Yale Alumni Associations of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi are sponsors of the seminar. The Yale Club of Dallas, in cooperation with the GRCSW, will be the host organization here.

Panel moderator will be David B.H. Martin, special assistant to the president and Yale Provost for Government Relations.

George W. Pierson, Larned Professor of History and Historian of the University will present "The Historical Perspective" of the government-in-education question.

James Tobin, Sterling Professor of Economics and a noted specialist in economic statistics and monetary theory, will speak on "National Economic Resources and Economic Needs." Prof. Tobin served for 18 months on President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers.

Frederic Barghoorn, professor of Political Science, will present "A Comparative View -- the Soviet Experience." Prof. Barghoorn, who spent five years as attache to the American Embassy in Moscow, is an internationally-known authority on Russia.

His arrest in Russia, last November, at the end of a 30-day visit to study Soviet political institutions, was strongly denounced by President Kennedy and the U. S. government. Prof. Barghoorn was imprisoned for 17 days on "spy" charges, then suddenly released and permitted to return to the U. S.

President Willis M. Tate of SMU will serve as chairman for the Saturday luncheon.

Ourgata lies in the southern foothills of the Atlas Mountains at the northern edge of the Sahara Desert.

"Most of the time will be spent in gathering rock samples for the NASA study," he said. He pointed out that the area to be covered is virtually uninhabited.

Prof. Helsley, who joined SCAS in 1963, earned the Ph.D. at Princeton in 1960. Last year he was a member of Prof. Hales' group carrying out seismic experiments in Lake Superior.

STAFF VP TRAVELS

Staff vice president Dr. B. D. Godbold recently traveled to Baton Rouge, Louisiana, for a visit with officials of Louisiana State University.

From Baton Rouge, he went on to Atlanta, Georgia, and discussions with the Southern Regional Education Board, then on to Washington, D. C. for discussions with the five universities of the nation's capital who have made a very important cooperative step in graduate education. These institutions of higher learning have entered into an agreement whereby their graduate school resources have been pooled for optimum effectiveness.

GRCSW "CHARTER" QUOTED WITHIN A QUOTE

Reporter Magazine, in its March 12, 1964 issue, quoted a DOD booklet entitled "The Changing Patterns of Defense Procurement," which in turn quoted a "study made by the GRCSW which concluded: 'Management planners in considering sites for new or expanded facilities have found that the availability of trained minds overshadows even such factors as the labor market, water supply, and power resources...'"

Entitled "When Pure Science Meets Pure Politics," the article was written by Daniel S. Greenberg, and discussed the "pork-barrel fights in Congress over location of scientific facilities...in an era when federal R & D exceeds public works as a pork-barrel potential..."
